1979 ANNUAL MEETING PROGRAM

DALLAS

AMERICAN BAR ASSOCIATION
AUGUST 8-15, 1979

THE SECOND CENTURY
1979 ANNUAL MEETING PROGRAM

DALLAS

AMERICAN BAR ASSOCIATION
AUGUST 8-15, 1979

Welcome to the 1979 Annual Meeting of the American Bar Association and to our great host city of Dallas.

The Annual Meeting is the major educational and social event of the Association year. This year's meeting has special significance, since it commemorates the first year of our second century.

More than one hundred major programs have been developed by ABA sections, divisions and committees to address the issues which we will face during our second century. Included are several "showcase programs," one of which will provide a status report on the work of the Commission on the Evaluation of Professional Standards. This program is co-sponsored by the National Conference of Bar Presidents and will be held at the Hyatt Regency. The 1979 Annual Meeting marks the tenth anniversary of the adoption of our model Code of Professional Responsibility. At this meeting, the Commission will make its first presentation of some of the tentative findings and conclusions of its comprehensive review of the model Code. This meeting will also be the Commission's first opportunity to solicit comments from Association members on the issues it is examining.

Other "showcase programs" will be held at the Dallas Convention Center which is the focal point for this year's meeting. Subjects which will be covered are:

- Cameras in the courtroom. Working in cooperation with several national media organizations, the Association is sponsoring a program designed to explore the advantages and disadvantages of photographic and electronic media coverage of courtroom proceedings. The program will include an appellate argument on cameras in the courtroom, a demonstration of the actual effect of cameras in appellate and trial-level proceedings, an exhibit of media equipment that would be used in the courtroom, and a film summary of the history of camera coverage of judicial proceedings.

- Attorney-client relationships. The General Practice Section is sponsoring a program entitled, "Our Clients . . . Love Them or They'll Leave You." This program is designed to train participants in non-trial, non-adversarial professional skills.

- The use of legal assistants. This program is co-sponsored by the Economics of Law Practice Section and the Standing Committee on Legal Assistants. In connection with this program, we plan to premiere a videotape on law office practice techniques developed by the Task Force on

New Methods for Improving the Quality of Lawyers' Services to Clients. The videotape will discuss such subjects as the efficient use of professional and non-professional personnel and the use of modern office equipment and systems to cut law office costs.

- Terrorism and violence as means of legal and social change, a program sponsored by the Young Lawyers Division.

- "Whistle Blowers in the Federal Government," a program of the Administrative Law Section on government employees who reveal agency abuses.

- A review of the effects of Watergate reforms. This program is sponsored by the Criminal Justice Section.

- The all-volunteer armed services, a program conducted by the Standing Committee on Lawyers in the Armed Forces and the Standing Committee on Legal Assistance for Military Personnel.

- Trade relations with the Peoples Republic of China, a program of the International Law Section.

- "Deregulation? The Wave of the Future?" a program sponsored by the Standing Committee on Aeronautical Law.

- Space commerce and the space shuttle. This program will be conducted by the Science and Technology Section.

- "Drafting Legal Documents in Plain Language," sponsored by the Standing Committee on Legal Drafting and the Law Student Division.

- Lawyer retirement, a program of the Standing Committee on Retirement of Lawyers.

To complement this outstanding educational program, we will have, I am told, the best special events and entertainment program ever held at an ABA Annual Meeting. You and your families will be able to participate in such enjoyable programs as:

- A special welcoming reception on Sunday afternoon, August 12.

- A luncheon with Edith Head, in which she will show her award-winning movie costumes.

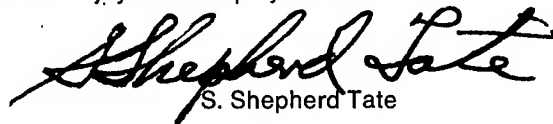

- A ranch party, including a barbecue dinner, a country-western band and a quarter horse show.

- The Fiesta de la Villa Grande, where cocktails and a buffet will be served at a magnificent Spanish-style estate.

- The President's Reception, which will be held in the beautiful Great Hall of the Apparel Mart. Each registrant will be an honored guest at this reception, which will be Tuesday night, August 14.

As you can tell, we have planned one of the greatest Annual Meetings in our history. We could not have done so, however, without the fine work of the Local Advisory Committee, which is chaired by Charles P. Storey and composed of Jerry L. Buchmeyer; T. Lamar Caudle III; David F. Chappell; John W. Clark, Jr.; Marshall J. Doke, Jr.; Morris Harrell; Travis D. Shelton; Cullen Smith; Robert H. Thomas; and Louis J. Weber, Jr. Also crucial to the planning of the meeting has been the leadership of Mrs. Robert B. (Dorothy) Cousins, who has coordinated the special events and entertainment program.

As always, the Association staff has provided invaluable assistance to these local advisers and to many more members of the Association who have helped plan this meeting. Our objective has been to make this Annual Meeting informative and enjoyable. I hope you will find it so.

CITY OF DALLAS

Robert S. Folsom
Mayor

WELCOME!

As Mayor of the Nation's seventh largest city and on behalf of the members of the City Council and the citizens of Dallas, I would like to welcome the American Bar Association Annual Meeting of 1979 to our city.

I believe you will find Dallas to be one of the most exciting and friendly cities in the United States. Dallas offers the arts, excellent cuisine, entertainment, fashion, shopping and sports plus a traditional southwestern hospitality which we call "DALLASTYLE". You will call it "great".

I hope you enjoy your stay.

Sincerely,

Robert S. Folsom
Mayor

COMMENTARY

A fashion gala you won't want to miss! Nominated for thirty-four Academy Awards, Edith Head has already established herself as one of Hollywood's legendary greats. She will conjure up other Hollywood greats, past and present, at this very special luncheon. Models will parade the Edith Head creations that have adorned such stars as Clark Gable, Elizabeth Taylor, Paul Newman, Bette Davis, Robert Redford, Marlene Dietrich, Mae West and a host of others in award-winning movies from All About Eve to The Sting. All of this to the accompaniment of Miss Head's unique insights concerning Hollywood and its stars. Candid and outspoken, her views on fashion, show business or any of her diverse interests are always lively and colorful.

COMMENTARY

The Commission on the Evaluation of Professional Standards was created in 1977 to revislt all provisions of the Code of Professional Responsibility with an eye to clarity, completeness, and timeliness for the legal profession as it exists today. In furtherance of its work, the Commission is presenting this program to stimulate discussion of the issues and to acquaint bar officials and other interested parties with the nature of the Commisssion's task.

Following the remarks of the keynote speaker will be a presentation on the drafting of the current ABA Model Code of Professional Responsibility, and a brief summary of the need for constant reevaluation of lawyer's professional obligations.

During the second portion of the program audience participation is encouraged. The topic presenters, known experts in the field, will tantalize with provocative questions and dialogue. After each presentation there will be an opportunity for panel discussion and questions from the attendees.

James T. O'Hara
Bruce M. Griswold
Alicia E. Gallagher
E. Charles Eichenbaum

COMMENTARY

The Standing Committee on Retirement of Lawyers has spent several years studying this subject matter from the standpoint of the law firm, the lawyer approaching retirement, and the retired lawyer. The program will examine the law firm's approach—the transition of lawyers from active to retired status; pre-retirement cut-back in earnings; flexible versus mandatory retirement policies; the importance in general of adequate death, disability, and retirement provisions in law firms; the use of older lawyers in the firm's practice; and the malpractice problem. Similarly, an analysis will be presented of typical retirement provisions made by large firms and by small firms; funded vs. unfunded plans; and the use of the H.R. 10 plan fund. The program will then examine, from the individual lawyer's standpoint, his or her financial considerations (adequate retirement income from social security benefits, private savings including life insurance, retirement provisions by the law firm); the use of H.R. 10 (Keogh) Plans, Individual Retirement Accounts, and Professional Corporations; tax considerations in retirement planning and other tax and estate planning; early retirement and the development of new opportunities; and commitments upon retirement not to practice in competition with the firm. The program will conclude with a discussion of activities and opportunities after retirement. These include income producing activity on a part time basis, such as service to the lawyer's former law firm; opportunities in teaching; consulting services to others; and the value of a complete re-orientation in work and new challenges. Attention will be given to public service opportunities, such as public interest law firm programs, legal aid, service to the legal profession, and government-sponsored small business counseling programs. Finally, the program will consider enjoying the good life, including hobbies, travel, good health, longevity, and various other sources of personal interest and activity.

COMMENTARY

The Association is joining with the Standing Committee on Legal Drafting and the Law Student Division to present this most timely program.

Can and should anything be done about the complex way lawyers draft even simple legal documents? New York State now requires consumer documents to be written in plain English.

Over 30 states are considering following New York's lead. Should the American Bar Association support such legislation? This and related issues will be debated by the following experts on the subject of legal drafting:

James B. Minor, Former Chairman of the Standing Committee on Legal Drafting. Mr. Minor has headed up many legislation and regulations drafting projects and has taught legal drafting to hundreds of lawyers.

Rose Anne Lawson is an attorney with the Office of Federal Register which annually publishes thousands of pages of regulations. Ms. Lawson has instructed hundreds of federal employees in classes designed to improve drafting skills.

William G. Schiffbauer, National Student Program Director, Legislative Research and Drafting, Law Student Division. Mr. Schiffbauer headed up a drafting project at Creighton Law School to improve the drafting skills of students at that school and to develop techniques that would be applicable in other law schools.

Richard P. McManus, Vice President, Director—Law Department, Consumer Finance Division, Household Finance Corporation, Prospect Heights, Illinois. Mr. McManus has been interested in plain English and has participated in drafting documents for approximately 13 years. He has been instrumental in preparing loan and insurance documents for Household Finance Corporation for their offices throughout the United States.

Wilbur H. Friedman is Chairman of the Special Committee on Consumer Agreements of the New York County Lawyers Association, which committee has issued several reports with respect to plain English law. He has written six articles in the New York Times and the New York Law Journal and has appeared on radio and TV. Mr. Friedman is a member of the House of Delegates of the American Bar Association and Former President of the New York County Lawyers Association. Frederic M. Carlin, is presently in New York City. This past year he was Editor in Chief of the Journal of Legislation at Notre Dame Law School, Notre Dame, Indiana.

Cameras in the Courtroom

Beginning at 2:00 p.m. in the Dallas County Courthouse, there will be a four-part program designed to give members of the bar an opportunity to explore the advantages and disadvantages of camera coverage of judicial proceedings. In the main jury room, a mythical state supreme court will hear a petition to remove the state's prohibition on cameras in the courtroom. In one courtroom, there will be camera coverage of a mock criminal trial. In two other courtrooms, there will be demonstrations of media equipment that is used to cover judicial proceedings. In a final courtroom, there will be films and oral presentations depicting the developmental history of the use of cameras in American courtrooms.

2:45 p.m. to 4:45 p.m., The Mock Criminal Trial (Courtroom 599)

2:15 p.m. to 5:00 p.m., Equipment Demonstration (Courtroom 499)

2:45 p.m. to 5:00 p.m., Films Depicting the History of Cameras in the Courtroom (Courtroom 4137)

COMMENTARY

At its February 1979 meeting, the American Bar Association House of Delegates considered a proposal to revise the ABA Code of Judicial Conduct and the ABA Criminal Justice Standards to permit the limited use of electronic and photographic media equipment in the courtroom. After lengthy debate, the proposal was defeated by a divided vote.

The subject of cameras in the courtroom continues to be of considerable concern to the legal profession and to the public generally. Approximately half of all states have adopted either permanent or experimental rules permitting some form of television, radio and photographic coverage of judicial proceedings.

The purpose of this program is to explore the advantages and disadvantages of the use of electronic and photographic media equipment in the courtroom. With the cooperation and assistance of television station WFAA in Dallas and several national media organizations (including the American Newspaper Publishers Association, the American Society of Newspaper Editors, the National Press Photographers Association, and the Radio-Television News Directors Association), the audience will have a chance both to witness a debate on cameras in the courtroom and to observe the actual effects of camera coverage of mock judicial proceedings. The program will be divided into four segments:

1. The Supreme Court Hearing

Beginning at 2:00 p.m. in the Jury Room of the Dallas County Courthouse, there will be a mock Supreme Court argument.

Four positions will be presented to the Court: (1) that the existing rule prohibiting camera coverage of judicial proceedings should be maintained; (2) that if cameras are to be allowed, they should be permitted only at the appellate level; (3) that cameras should be permitted, but that parties and witnesses should have the right to limit or exclude their use; and (4) that cameras should be permitted regardless of the preferences of the participants, so long as the right to a fair trial is preserved. There will be both electronic and still camera coverage of the appellate argument, providing a permanent record of the proceedings and giving the audience an opportunity to observe the actual effects of camera coverage of an appellate hearing.

PARTICIPANTS

Advocates:

Floyd Abrams, New York, New York, a leading authority on communications law, will petition the court to allow camera coverage of judicial proceedings.

Robert F. Hanley, Chicago, Illinois, former Chairman of the Litigation Section, will argue that, if cameras are to be allowed, they should be permitted only in appellate proceedings.

Lee Loevinger, Washington, D.C., former Commissioner of the Federal Communications Commission, will argue that cameras should be allowed, but that parties, witnesses, attorneys and other trial participants should be authorized to limit their usage.

Whitney North Seymour, New York, New York, Past President of the American Bar Association, will argue that existing prohibitions on camera coverage should be maintained and that the petition should be denied.

The Bench:

The Honorable William H. Erickson, Justice of the Supreme Court of Colorado and member of the ABA Board of Governors, presiding

The Honorable Joe W. Henry, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Tennessee

The Honorable Wade H. McCree, Jr., Solicitor General of the United States

The Honorable Paul H. Roney, Chairman of the ABA Appellate Judges' Conference and Judge of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit

The Honorable Mary M. Schroeder, Judge of the Arizona Court of Appeals, Division One

2. The Mock Criminal Trial

In Courtroom 599, beginning at 2:45, there will be a mock criminal trial. Electronic equipment will record this trial, subject to the same rules that will govern camera coverage of the appellate argument. The mock trial will include opening statements, the examination of witnesses, cross-examinations, and closing statements.

In Courtroom 5137, television monitors will show the mock trial on closed circuit, giving the audience a chance to move from one courtroom to the other, comparing their live observations with the view seen through the eye of the television camera.

3. A Demonstration of Electronic Equipment Used in the Coverage of Judicial Proceedings

In Courtroom 499, beginning at 2:15, there will be an exhibition of media equipment that is used in the courtroom. Members of the audience will be given an opportunity to explore the technical issues involved in electronic media coverage: to ask questions; to observe the use of silent-shutter cameras; to see themselves on television; etc.

In Courtroom 565, beginning at 2:45, there will be a demonstration of the electronic equipment that is not used in the courtroom, but that is used to support and disseminate courtroom coverage. This "media pooling room" will be functional, servicing the needs of representatives of the local and national press who are in attendance.

4. Films Depicting the Developmental History of the Use of Cameras in the Courtroom

In Courtroom 4137, beginning at 2:30, there will be a series of short films and oral presentations depicting the use of cameras in the courtroom. This segment of the program will include actual footage of trials that have been televised.

COMMENTARY

In cooperation with the Association, the Standing Committee on Legal Assistants and the Section of Economics of Law Practice are pleased to present this program.

This program and its speakers, qualified professionals in their respective fields, will address the need for, implementation of and economic advantages to developing a program for utilizing legal assistants within sole practitioners' offices and small and medium size law firms. The program will provide a practical approach to enhancing the economics and efficiency of law practice and improving the quality of legal services.

A question and answer period with full audience participation is welcomed following the presentations on the following four topics:

Establishing and Recognizing the Need for Legal Assistants

Samuel S. Smith of Miami Beach, Florida will discuss the evolution of the legal assistant concept, the criteria and procedures fundamental to establishing and recognizing the need for legal assistants within law firms and the means by which the legal assistant concept can be put to work. Mr. Smith, chairman-elect of the Section of Economics of Law Practice, member of the Board of Governors of The Florida Bar and vice-chairman of the Economics of Law Office Management Committee of the Section of General Practice, has lectured on this and a variety of other subjects related to law office economics and management in over 18 states and Canada.

The Use of Systems in the Law Office

The use of systems in the law office, essential to law office efficiency and the effective utilization of legal assistants, will be discussed by Roberta C. Ramo of Albuquerque, New Mexico. Ms. Ramo, editor-in-chief of the popular book How to Create-A-System for the Law Office has lectured extensively on this topic at programs sponsored by the American and Canadian Bar Associations, as well as numerous continuing legal education programs throughout the United States. Ms. Ramo is a member of the council of the Section of Economics of Law Practice, president-elect of the Albuquerque Bar Association and chairperson of the Forms Committee of the New Mexico Bar Association.

Economics of Utilizing Legal Assistants

As never before the legal profession is being challenged to improve the delivery of and meet the demand for legal services to the public at a reasonable cost. Without question, the utilization of legal assistants provides a direct and immediate response to this challenge. Bradford W. Hildebrandt, president of Bradford W. Hildebrandt & Company, Inc., Union, New Jersey, a management consultant firm for lawyers, will analyze the economic advantages of utilizing legal assistants and demonstrate how the cost of legal services to the client is reduced while at the same time the net profits to the firm are increased. Mr. Hildebrandt, a noted professional on the subject of law office management and economics, was a founder and a past-president of the Association of Legal Administrators, lectures for the Practising Law Institute and writes a column on law office management for the New York Law Journal.

Effective Administration of Legal Assistants

Implementing an effective program for the administration of legal assistants within a firm takes planning, time and effort on the part of attorneys and legal assistants alike but the results are well worth it. Speaking on this subject is Nancy Siegel, administrator of the paralegal program at the firm of Lillick, McHose and Charles in San Francisco, California. Ms. Siegel, who has been a legal assistant for eight years, is the immediate past-president of the National Federation of Paralegal Associations and a past-president of the San Francisco Association of Legal Assistants. Having taught paralegal courses and served on advisory boards of several paralegal training programs, Ms. Siegel is an experienced professional fully familiar with all aspects of legal assistant training, utilization and administration.

COMMENTARY

How are the courts perceived by various interest groups in our society? Are they satisfied with the manner in which their disputes are resolved by the courts? "The Citizen and the Courts" program will address these and other related questions by using a modified legislative committee hearing format. A panel consisting of Lewis F. Powell, Jr., Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court, and Irving L. Goldberg, Judge of the United States Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals, and two distinguished lawyers, Rita E. Hauser of New York City and Seth M. Hufstедler of Los Angeles, will hear testimony from five advocates representing industry, labor, press, corrections, and women. Each advocate will critique the courts from their constituent group's perspective. The panel will question each advocate after their presentations.

Floyd Abrams of New York City will speak on behalf of the press; Allen F. Breed, Director, National Institute of Corrections, will discuss corrections; Laurence Gold, Special Counsel for the AFL-CIO, will offer the labor viewpoint; Margaret A. McKenna, Deputy Counsel to President Carter, will present the feminist position; and Paul Thayer, Chairman of the Board and Chief Executive Officer of LTV Corporation in Dallas, will speak for industry. The sixth advocate, Kraft W. Eldman of Houston, Texas, will examine the courts from the perspective of the trial lawyer.

COMMENTARY

The program will consider the concluding set of recommendations, for action by the House of Delegates, developed by the Commission in its report FEDERAL REGULATION: ROADS TO REFORM. The recommendations address the significant problem of a multiplicity of independent specialized federal agencies, and the absence of any mechanism for coordinating and conforming them to balancing judgments of elected generalists who can be held politically accountable. Should the President have a limited power to accelerate and modify agency decisions concerning issues of national importance where conflicts exist between statutory goals? As recommended, such a power would be subject to procedural constraints and congressional and judicial review. Also recommended are regulatory analyses, an inter-agency review process and a constitutional form of congressional review of presidential exercises of certain delegated quasi-legislative powers.

The Association is joining the Sections of International Law and Public Contract Law to sponsor this most timely program. The program draws upon the experience of two bar association delegations to the Peoples Republic of China during the past year, as well as the personal and professional contact which the speakers and panelists have had with China before and after normalization of relations between the United States and the PRC.

The program features three panels on the following topics:

Legal Developments in the Peoples Republic of China—An Overview

Showcase
Programs

Stanley B. Lubman, a San Francisco attorney, and Professor R. Randle Edwards of Columbia University School of Law, will discuss the promulgation of new legal codes and the establishment of an association of lawyers in Peking. Mr. Lubman is currently Vice-Chairman of the Committee on the Peoples Republic of China of the Section of International Law, and both Mr. Lubman and Professor Edwards have made numerous trips to the PRC during the past year and have written extensively on this subject.

Changing Legal Relations between the United States and Taiwan

The implementation and administration of the Taiwan Relations Act will be covered by Professor Victor H. Li of Stanford Law School and Stephen Orlins, Deputy Assistant Legal Adviser for East Asian Affairs, Department of State. Professor Li has authored numerous books and articles on U.S.-China relations and has testified before congressional committees on the legal implications of derecognition of Taiwan. Stephen Orlins has helped shape the Administration's policy with regard to the legal structure of ongoing commercial relations with Taiwan.

Claims Settlement, Trade and Financing Arrangements with the Peoples Republic of China

Speakers for the third panel include Russell Munk, Assistant General Counsel, International Affairs, Department of the Treasury, who will speak on the U.S.-PRC claims settlement, and Cecil Hunt, Assistant General Counsel, Industry and Trade, Department of Commerce, who will speak on legal issues relevant to the adoption of a U.S.-China trade agreement. The speakers will also explore new financing arrangements with the PRC, including foreign lending and compensation trade.

In addition to the above speakers, four panelists—most of whom have recently visited the Peoples Republic of China—will make comments and raise questions during each of the three panels. These panelists are: Professor Don Wallace, Jr. of Georgetown University Law Center who accompanied the President of the ABA on a visit to the PRC at the invitation of the Chinese government in July, 1978; E. Charles Routh, a Seattle attorney, who has practiced in the Far East and is currently Chairman of the Section of International Law's Far Eastern Law Committee; James R. Silkenat, a New York attorney who visited the PRC in November, 1978 with a 24-member delegation of lawyers from the Section of International Law, and is Chairman of that Section's Committee on Peoples Republic of China; and, Stephen W. Gulttard, General Counsel and Secretary of Dow Corning Corporation, who also visited the PRC in November, 1978 as part of the International Law Section's delegation.

The Honorable Benjamin R. Civiletti, Deputy Attorney General of the United States;
The Honorable Don Edwards, Chairman, House Judiciary Subcommittee on Civil and Constitutional Rights;
Morton H. Halperin, Director, Center for National Security Studies.

COMMENTARY

This program on Watergate reform is appropriately being held five years after the resignation of President Richard M. Nixon and three-and-one-half years after the ABA Special Committee on Federal Law Enforcement Agencies issued its report, "Preventing Improper Influence on Federal Law Enforcement Agencies." Yet many of the major problems stemming from Watergate and previous eras have not been fully resolved. The ABA report contained twenty recommendations for insulating federal law enforcement officials from the improper pressures seen in the Watergate affair, and these were approved by the House of Delegates in February, 1976.

This program will explore how some of these recommendations for preventing future abuses have fared and what remains to be done. Key areas which will be discussed include the following:

FBI Charter

This is the hottest Watergate issue being considered by the Administration and Congress. One Presidential Executive Order has already been issued. The Department of Justice is considering additional federal regulations. Private organizations have issued model charters. Several bills in Congress are under active consideration. And the ABA has recommended that there be a specific legislative charter. Some key issues involve the question of whether in all cases it should be alleged that a crime has been or is about to be committed before an FBI investigation can commence; the nature of Departmental and Congressional oversight over the FBI; and the use of informants.

The Temporary Special Prosecutor

Based on ABA recommendations, Congress enacted—with the support of President Carter and the Department of Justice—the temporary special prosecutor legislation. It calls for the appointment of a temporary special prosecutor by a special division of the D.C. Circuit Court of Appeals when allegations of crime deemed substantial by the Attorney General are made against certain White House employees and other high ranking government officials. Allegations have been investigated and resolved under these provisions of the law including allegations against the President and his top aides. Mr. Spann will briefly recount the history of the ABA's recommendations and the legislation's ultimate passage. The Deputy Attorney General will comment on the operation of the Act.

Congressional Oversight Over U.S. Department of Justice

Until recently the Judiciary Committees of Congress were not involved in reviewing and authorizing funds for Justice Department programs on a formal basis. Judiciary Committee oversight thus lacked real clout stemming from the power of the purse. Legislation enacted several years ago—and renewed Congressional emphasis on oversight—has placed the judiciary committees directly in this process. The panel discussion will include comments on such oversight from both Congressional and Justice Department perspectives.

Appointment of U.S. Attorneys

Under the traditional method of choosing U.S. Attorneys, senior senators from a state recommend individuals, or at least exercise a veto over particular appointments. The ABA has recommended the establishment of Federal District Commissions, composed of representatives of the Bar and the public, to recommend qualified appointees to the Department of Justice. The panel will take a close look at progress—or the lack thereof—in reducing partisan politics in the appointment of U.S. Attorneys.

The Office of Professional Responsibility

The ABA recommended the establishment of an office within the Department of Justice to investigate alleged internal abuses. Partially in response to the ABA recommendation, the Department of Justice established the Office of Professional Responsibility. This office has conducted investigations into some matters and has referred others to the branch of the Department directly involved in the allegations. Program participants will discuss the operations of this office, the resources available to it, its authority within the Department, and the prospects for legislation to make the office a permanent fixture.

COMMENTARY

This program focuses on the types of disputes now in the courts, their increasing shift from suits at law which resolve essentially private disputes to suits in equity which resolve disputes of a public character and which require continuing superintendence—in Professor Archibald Cox's words, "a shift from negative to affirmative adjudication." The panelists will attempt to identify this phenomenon and discuss the changes it has occasioned—changes both in methods of resolving disputes and in the traditional roles of judges, juries and advocates.

Introducing the panelists and framing the area of discussion will be Patrick E. Higginbotham, Judge of the United States District Court for the Northern District of Texas.

Professor Abram Chayes, Felix Frankfurter Professor at Harvard Law School, will examine shifts in judicial model's usage as a social dispute resolution mechanism and the implications of the public law expansion.

Analyzing judicial power and the new public law model will be Professor Haoui Berger. His critique will emphasize that the model is not constitutionally warranted. Professor Berger is the author of Government By The Judiciary: The Transformation of the Fourteenth Amendment (1977).

Justice Stanley Mosk of the California Supreme Court will discuss the rationale of the present judicial role, emphasizing its pluses and minuses. Associate Justice John Paul Stevens of the United States Supreme Court will comment on the other presentations and relate the institutional stresses, strengths and weaknesses of the current judicial model.

The annual Gavel Awards Presentation ceremonies are held to provide national recognition to the information and entertainment media for publications and programs which serve to inform the public on the roles of the law, the legal profession and the courts in American life. Awards in the form of silver Gavels are presented to the chief executive officers of the award-winning organizations for outstanding contributions to public understanding of the American system of law and justice. Organizations participating in the competition include newspapers, television and radio stations, magazines, motion picture and theatrical producers, book publishers, wire services and news syndicates. Certificates of Merit also are awarded annually for entries which do not receive Gavel Awards but nevertheless are judged to be noteworthy examples of distinguished public service. These certificates are mailed directly to the recipients in July.

COMMENTARY

Pros and cons of this timely issue! The major question today, the sponsors point out, is whether the all-volunteer armed service is working or is restoration of Selective Service, at least on a standby basis, called for? Also, who will handle the system? Congress is now grappling with these questions.

This topic has considerable relevance to the Equal Rights Amendment, which continues to be a burning issue. One of the questions raised about ERA is its relationship to the performance of military duty by women if Selective Service is reinstated. A candid discussion of where the country now stands in its defense posture with the all-volunteer military establishment will be of interest to the legal community as well as to the public at large.

The all-volunteer force plus standby arrangements for draft in war or emergency

Today some are calling for continuation of the present all-volunteer force, but with the addition of draft "machinery" to be used in case of war or emergency.

Universal conscription now

Others say we need a major change from the volunteer force and would authorize registration for all males. Still others would add: "and all females."

Alternative services options

Then there is the position favoring a conscription system which allows for "alternative service."

COMMENTARY

The Space Shuttle will soon greatly increase opportunities for business investments in outer space. Business will make a profit on this new industrial frontier, and lawyers will have to stay abreast of the developments in space law and technology to properly advise their corporate clients.

The first Space Shuttle flight is currently scheduled to take place in September, 1979. We will be discussing, in a plain and uncomplicated way, space solar power, industry and space exploration. These are the exciting new concepts that made "Star Wars" and "Battlestar Galactica" a success. Now they present fundamental and interesting legal questions. Who owns the moon? Who will own, tax and control space industry? What products and services will America get from space? How can the public profit from free enterprise on this final frontier?

Divisions

The Association has three Divisions, the Judicial Administration Division, the Law Student Division and the Young Lawyers Division.

The Judicial Administration Division consists of five judicial conferences: Appellate Judges, State Trial Judges, Special Court Judges, Administrative Law Judges and Federal Trial Judges—plus the Lawyers Conference and the Committee on the Traffic Court Program. In addition to 4,000 judge-members, there are about 3,000 members whose activities are conducted principally through the Lawyers Conference.

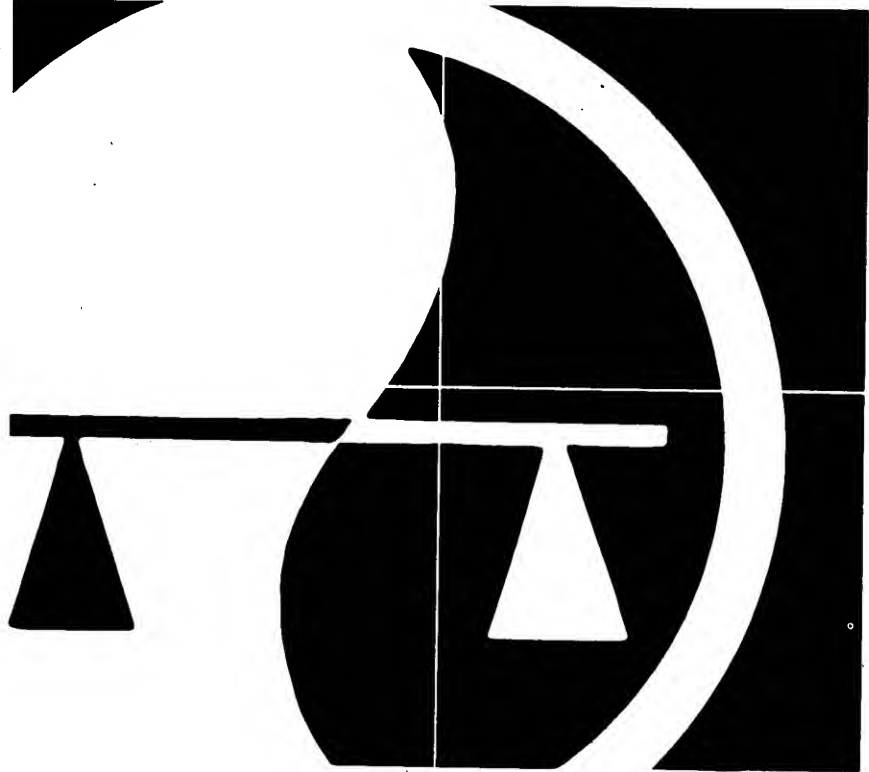

The Council, the governing body of the Division, coordinates the work of the conferences. Each conference has its own officers, by-laws and programs.

The Law Student Division has 30,000 members attending ABA-approved law schools across the nation and continues to grow. The Division is governed by a Board of Governors consisting of five national officers and thirteen circuit governors.

The Division sponsors the Client Counseling Competition, the National Appellate Advocacy Competition, the Law Student Counseling Program, a Liaison Program and the Law School Services Fund which provides grants to law schools for law-related projects. It publishes the Student Lawyer magazine and the Bi-Weekly Bulletin.

The Young Lawyers Division represents the 125,000 members of the Association under 36 years of age. The Executive Council, the Division's governing body, includes five officers and thirty district representatives. Delegates are selected by and represent the more than 200 state and local young lawyers bar associations affiliated with the Division.

The Division sponsors an annual Award of Achievement competition which provides national recognition for outstanding state and local young lawyer bar projects. It publishes the Barrister, a quarterly magazine sent to all members, and the Affiliate newsletter which is distributed to state and local young lawyer leaders.

SECRET

Sections

125

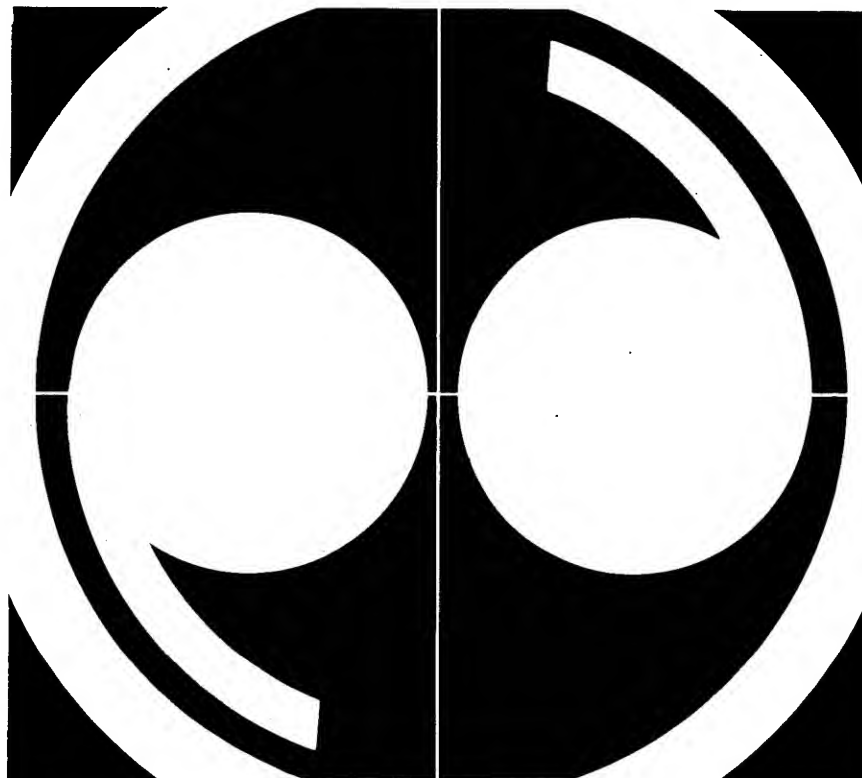

Sections

The ABA's 22 Sections will sponsor meetings and programs in all substantive areas of the law during the Annual Meeting. All ABA registrants are invited to select and attend the Section activities of their choice.

Sections are semi-autonomous entities usually representing a substantive area of the law, which may study or investigate any matter relating to its jurisdiction and make recommendations to the House of Delegates thereon. Each Section has its own by-laws and its own national chairman, officers and council. Section committees are composed of ABA members from across the country. Sections elect their own officers, determine their own specific goals, and make their own recommendations for action.

Enrollment in one or more Sections has provided an unprecedented opportunity to associate with those who share substantive law interests and to exchange ideas, viewpoints, knowledge and experience. The publications and periodicals published by the Sections keep their members abreast of the rapid changes and developments in their particular area of interest.

There will be various Section meetings and programs taking place each day of the Annual Meeting, August 8 through August 15. The Sections will welcome your attendance.

Born out of the adversity of the stock market crash of 1929, the Federal Reserve Board margin regulations were adopted for the purpose of curbing excessive credit flows into the nation's securities market. Although they were designed with the normal stock market transaction in mind, the regulations have been interpreted by the Federal Reserve Board, the Securities and Exchange Commission, and various courts, to be fully applicable to most forms of acquisition financing. These interpretations have imposed a maze of restrictions on lenders and borrowers and created major uncertainties in acquisition finance. The panel will discuss these restrictions and uncertainties; consider modifications that might rationalize their impact on acquisition financing; and address the Reg T restriction on "arranging" by brokers and investment bankers, the "carrying" and "indirectly secured" questions under Regs U and G, and the sanctions that can be imposed for violation of the regulations.

Professor Carl Q. Christol, Professor of International Law and Political Science, University of Southern California, Los Angeles, California

James W. Barrett, President, Corroon and Black, Inc., Washington, D.C.

The Space Shuttle will soon greatly increase opportunities for business investments in outer space. Business will make a profit on this new industrial frontier, and lawyers will have to stay abreast of the developments in space law and technology to properly advise their corporate clients.

The first Space Shuttle flight is currently scheduled to take place in September, 1979. We will be discussing, in a plain and uncomplicated way, space solar power, industry and space exploration. These are the exciting new concepts that made "Star Wars" and "Battlestar Galactica" a success. Now they present fundamental and interesting legal questions. Who owns the moon? Who will own, tax and control space industry?

What products and services will America get from space? How can the public profit from free enterprise on this final frontier?

Speakers: Lee S. Adams, Office of the General Counsel, Federal Reserve Board, Washington, D.C.

Lynne B. Barr, Division of Consumer Affairs, Federal Reserve Board, Washington, D.C.

This meeting will be on the regulations promulgated under EFT Act, Title XX, Public Law 95-630, enacted on November 10, 1978. On August 1, 1979, the Federal Reserve Board will publish the implementing regulations for the final 60-day comment. The purpose of this meeting is to provide interested parties the opportunity to comment on the implementing regulations directly to Federal Reserve Board representatives prior to, not after, they are finalized.

Committees

Association Committees, consisting of Association members appointed by the President, are either Standing Committees or Special Committees depending upon the probable duration of the Committee's work. Standing Committees, normally consisting of seven members, are created within the Association's By-Laws to investigate and study issues of continuing or recurring importance to the purpose or business of the Association. The Association presently has 38 Standing Committees, examples of which include Continuing Education of the Bar, Ethics and Professional Responsibility, Federal Judiciary, Legal Aid and Indigent Defendants, Legislation, and Professional Discipline.

Special Committees investigate and study specific issues of immediate or non-recurring concern to the purpose or business of the Association. Special Committees, normally consisting of five members, are appointed on a year-to-year basis and address areas of activity such as Administration of Criminal Justice, Resolution of Minor Disputes, Delivery of Legal Services, Prepaid Legal Services, Public Interest Practice, and Youth Education for Citizenship. The Association currently has 34 Special Committees.

From time to time, Commissions are created. A Commission is a Special Committee whose membership includes non-lawyers, who are not members of the Association, whose participation is deemed necessary to resolve the problem assigned to the Commission. Examples of Commissions include the Commission on Advertising, on Correctional Facilities and Services, on the Mentally Disabled, and on Medical Professional Liability.

ASSASSINATIONS BY EVENTS

Assembly Events

The Assembly is the forum for the members of the Association at the Association's Annual Meeting. It is composed of all members registered at the annual meeting with a quorum of the Assembly being 200. The Assembly elects Assembly Delegates to the House of Delegates, considers resolutions presented by Association members, considers amendments to the Association's Constitution and presents programs of professional interest.

This year Assembly programs include the Opening Assembly (Morning and Afternoon Sessions), three Assembly luncheons, the President's Reception, and the Annual Dinner. Because of amendments to the Association's Constitution and By-Laws adopted at the 1977 Annual Meeting, matters for deliberation by the Assembly will be presented at the afternoon session of the Opening Assembly on Monday, August 13, and continue on the afternoon of Wednesday, August 15. The agenda for the Assembly will consist of constitutional amendments and the recommendations of the Assembly resolutions committee. Copies of the resolutions which were submitted for consideration can be found in the registration kits of members; texts of amendments to the Association's Constitution can be found under the General Information tab in this book.

Assembly Events

ASSEMBLY RESOLUTIONS COMMITTEE

Resolutions must be submitted ten days before the opening session of the Assembly and must be pertinent to the purposes of the Association. Resolutions which are submitted are referred to the Assembly Resolutions Committee which consists of the Assembly Delegates. The Assembly Resolutions Committee will hold Open Hearings Friday, August 10, at 2:00 p.m. in Brisbane B, on the Atrium Level of the Hyatt Regency Dallas, at which time members will have an opportunity to be heard regarding the resolutions which have been submitted. The Committee will then prepare a recommendation on each such resolution for the Assembly's consideration on Monday afternoon, August 13 at 2:00 p.m.

ELECTION OF ASSEMBLY DELEGATES

The Assembly Delegates, 15 in number, 5 of whom are elected at each Annual Meeting for 3-year terms, represent the Assembly in the House of Delegates. Any member of the Association is eligible to be an Assembly Delegate although of the 5 Delegates elected, no 2 may be residents of the same district as districts are defined in Section 2.1 of the Constitution. Nominations for Assembly Delegates are made by written petition. All members of the Assembly, which consists of the members of the Association registered at the Annual Meeting, are entitled to vote for Assembly Delegates. Voting will commence on Thursday, August 9, and continue until Wednesday, August 15, in the registration area of the Dallas Convention Center. The polls will be open from 12 noon to 6:00 p.m. Thursday, August 9, and from 8 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Friday, August 10 through Tuesday, August 14. On Wednesday, August 15, the polls will close at 11:30 a.m. The votes will then be tallied by computer and the five candidates with the highest number of votes, provided that no 2 are from the same district, will be declared elected. In the event of a tie, the Secretary will determine the winner by lot.

SUNDAY, AUGUST 12

Affiliated Groups

An affiliated organization in the technical sense means a national organization of the legal profession that is represented in the House of Delegates. Each national organization in the legal profession—the objectives and activities of which are not included in those of the Association—if it has one thousand or more members in good standing, at least fifty percent of whom are members of the Association, may seek to be represented in the House of Delegates as an affiliated organization. An application to become an affiliated organization must be filed with the Chairman of the Credentials and Admissions Committee of the House of Delegates.

The following national organizations of the legal profession are examples of currently-affiliated organizations: American Judicature Society; American Law Institute; Association of Life Insurance Counsel; Conference of Chief Justices; Federal Bar Association; Federal Communications Bar Association; Maritime Law Association of the United States; National Association of College and University Attorneys; National Bar Association; National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws; National District Attorneys Association; and National Legal Aid and Defender Association.

Other national organizations of the legal profession are “affiliated” in the non-technical sense in that they work closely together with the Association in a variety of areas of mutual interest.

Application for Association Membership

Application forms for membership will be available at the ABA Membership Desk which will be located in the East Hall of the Dallas Convention Center, beginning at 12:00 noon, Thursday, August 9

Section Membership and Meetings

Those persons attending the Annual Meeting for the first time will undoubtedly find many Section meetings of interest to them because of the subjects being discussed. Since Section meetings are run simultaneously, those attending for the first time should carefully read the program to decide which events they wish to attend. Particular attention is called to those members under age 36 to the meetings of the Young Lawyers Division.

Any member of the Association is entitled to attend any meeting of a Section, but only a member of a Section is entitled to take part in its discussion and proceedings.

A member of the Association may enroll in any of the Association's Sections during the meeting; however, some Sections limit those who can vote on Section matters to those individuals who have been Section members for a minimum time period.

Meetings

Members are advised that all sessions of the Assembly and House of Delegates will be called to order promptly at the announced time which will be Central Daylight Time. Members are asked to cooperate by prompt attendance.

The Board of Governors will meet on Thursday and Friday, August 9 and 10, in the Reunion Ballroom of the Hyatt Regency Dallas.

Board of Governors' Committees will meet at the Hyatt Regency Dallas on Wednesday, August 8.

Proposed Amendments to the Constitution of the Association

The following proposed amendments to the Constitution of the Association will be considered by the Assembly at its session on Wednesday, August 15, and by the House of Delegates at its session on Tuesday, August 14. Notice of these proposed amendments was published in the June issue of the American Bar Association Journal.

I

SPONSORS: John P. Bracken, Stanley M. Brown, James D. Fellers, Osmer C. Fitts, Thomas B. Gay, James K. Groves, John D. Randall, Charles S. Rhyne, Barnabas F. Sears, Sylvester C. Smith, Jr., and Wm. B. Spann, Jr., all former Chairmen of the House of Delegates.

PROPOSAL: Amend the Constitution to provide for a one-year term on the Board of Governors for the Immediate Past Chairman of the House of Delegates.

Amend § 7.2 to read as follows:

§ 7.2 Composition. The Board of Governors is composed of members of the Association elected by the House, one from each district and three members-at-large, and the following ex officio members: the President, the Chairman of the House of Delegates, the President-Elect, the immediate past President, the immediate past Chairman of the House of Delegates for one Association year immediately following the expiration of his term, the Secretary, and the Treasurer.

A

PROPOSAL: Amend the Constitution and the By-Laws* to change the time of election of members of the Board of Governors.

Effective at the conclusion of the 1981 Annual Meeting, amend § 7.3 to read as follows:

§ 7.3 Eligibility and Term. To be eligible for election to the Board of Governors other than as a member-at-large, a person must be accredited to the district for which he is elected, and he must be or have been a delegate in the House of Delegates. To be eligible for election as the young lawyer member-at-large, a person must be less than 34 years old at the beginning of his term. The judicial member-at-large must be an active member of the judiciary. The section member-at-large must be a person who was a section chairman at some time within three Association years immediately preceding the beginning of his term, a person who was a section delegate within the Association year immediately preceding the beginning of his term, or a person who is a section delegate at the beginning of his term. The term of an elected member of the Board is three Association years, beginning with the adjournment of the annual meeting next following his election.

* A conforming amendment to the By-Laws will be considered by the House of Delegates.

B

PROPOSAL: Amend the Constitution to change the time of election of officers and to provide for successive ballots in contested elections.

Effective at the conclusion of the 1981 Annual Meeting, amend § 8.2 to read as follows:

§ 8.2 Election and Terms. (a) The President-Elect, the Secretary, and the Treasurer shall be elected by the House of Delegates at the midyear meeting immediately preceding their terms of office. The term of each is one Association year beginning with the adjournment of the annual meeting next following his election. The President-Elect becomes President of the Association at the end of his term as President-Elect and is not again eligible for either office.

(b) The Chairman of the House of Delegates shall be elected by the House from among its members during the midyear meeting in even-numbered years. His term is two Association years, beginning with the adjournment of the annual meeting next following his election. During his term of office, he may not hold or seek any other office in the Association. He is not again eligible for the office of Chairman of the House, and during the two Association years following the expiration of his term he is ineligible for nomination to the office of President-Elect.

(c) Election of officers shall be by majority vote of the delegates present and voting. Voting shall continue until a candidate receives a majority vote. On successive ballots, the name of the candidate receiving the fewest votes on the previous ballot shall be removed.

PROPOSAL: Amend the Constitution to change the time of nomination of officers and members of the Board of Governors, to require that the State Delegates nominate two or three persons for the office of President-Elect, and to change the period during which nominating petitions may be filed.

1. Effective at the conclusion of the 1981 Annual Meeting, except that the State Delegates are required to make nominations during or immediately preceding the 1981 Annual Meeting, amend § 9.2 to read as follows:

§ 9.2 By State Delegates. (a) At, or within seven days before, each annual meeting, the State Delegates shall convene and shall make and immediately

General

announce two or three nominations for the office of President-Elect, a nomination for each of the offices of Secretary and Treasurer, and a nomination for each member of the Board of Governors whose term expires upon the adjournment of the next annual meeting. At, or within seven days before, the annual meeting in each odd-numbered year, the State Delegates shall also make and immediately announce a nomination for the office of Chairman of the House of Delegates.

(b) If a nominee dies, becomes disabled, or declines, the State Delegates shall convene at the midyear meeting and select another nominee for that office.

(c) At least 20-days notice of the time and place of the meeting of the State Delegates, as determined by the Board of Governors, shall be given to each State Delegate. The Chairman of the House shall preside and the Secretary of the Association shall act as Secretary.

(d) If the Board of Governors recommends, and the State Delegates by mail ballot determine, that because of extraordinary circumstances a nominating meeting should not be held, the nominations required shall be made by the State Delegates acting by mail vote conducted by the Board of Elections.

2. Effective at the conclusion of the 1981 Annual Meeting, except that nominating petitions for positions to be filled at the 1982 Midyear Meeting may be filed not earlier than 90 days before the 1981 Annual Meeting, amend § 9.3(a) to read as follows:

§ 9.3 By Petition. (a) Not earlier than 90 days before nor later than 90 days after the annual meeting, other nominations for the Board of Governors or for any office to be filled by election at the next midyear meeting may be made by filing with the Secretary a petition and the written consent of the nominee.

D

PROPOSAL: Amend the Constitution to require that Midyear Meetings of the Association and of the House of Delegates be held.

1. Effective at the conclusion of the 1981 Annual Meeting, amend § 4.1 to read as follows:

§ 4.1 Annual and Midyear Meetings. The annual meeting and the midyear meeting of the Association shall each be held once during each calendar year at a time and place determined by the Board of Governors. Each such meeting may include meetings of the Board of Governors, sections, and committees as the Board may authorize. The annual meeting shall also include meetings of the Assembly. Notice of each meeting shall be given to members of the Association at least six months in advance.

2. Effective at the conclusion of the 1981 Annual Meeting, amend § 4.2 to read as follows:

§ 4.2 Other Meetings. In addition to the annual meeting and the midyear meeting, the Association shall hold such other meetings, including special and regional meetings, as the Board of Governors may prescribe.

3. Effective at the conclusion of the 1981 Annual Meeting, amend § 6.10 to read as follows:

§ 6.10 Meetings of the House. The House of Delegates shall meet during the annual meeting and the midyear meeting of the Association and at such other times and at such places as the Board of Governors may prescribe. Special meetings of the House shall be called by the President at the written request of a majority of the delegates. Forty-days notice of a meeting of the House shall be given to each delegate and to each section or committee chairman. However, if because of unusual urgency two-thirds of the members of the Board authorize a special meeting of the House held solely for a limited purpose specified in the notice, 15 days is sufficient. Each delegate has only one vote, which must be cast in person. A quorum is 100 delegates.

NOTE: Additional conforming amendments to the By-Laws will be considered by the House of Delegates.

The men and women whose names appear in the following index are notable public figures and renowned experts in their respective fields. The page numbers refer to the programs of which they are a part. Their selection by Association, Committee and Section Program planners was a thoughtful process designed to make the best individuals available to you. Their presence represents a major opportunity.

Although many of these speakers will be discussing highly technical material of primarily professional interest, the presentations of a number of others will be of a more general nature and may well be of interest to members of your families. They are welcome at any of the programs.
